

Advice Nurse

Looking for an exciting nursing career away from the bedside? We're looking to hire an experienced telehealth nurse to join our team. At [facility name], we're passionate about providing high-quality care and strive to empower our patients with the information they need to receive safe and timely treatment.

As a remote advice nurse in our organization, you'll be responsible for answering telephone calls, internet chats, and email messages from patients. While this role doesn't involve direct clinical care, we prefer our advice nurses to have at least two years of urgent care or emergency department experience. If hired, you'll be expected to work in our regional call center located in the heart of Atlanta, GA.

We know that without our exceptional clinicians, we wouldn't be able to meet our mission of delivering unmatched compassion and support to the greater Atlanta area. Staff satisfaction is one of our top priorities, and we've been awarded "Georgia's #1 Healthcare Employer" for three years in a row.

If this sounds like a position you'd be interested in, continue reading below as we highlight additional advice nurse responsibilities, compensation offerings, and scheduling requirements.
